Where Dreams Take Flight

UDC holds a unique place in the academic life of the nation's capital. As the only urban land-grant institution in the country, we support a broad mission of education, research and community service across all campuses, which include the University of the District of Columbia, the Community College and the David A. Clarke School of Law. Building on a 160-year tradition of scholarship and achievement, we are committed to nurturing the next generation of leaders in our city, our country and the world.

The Firebird community is now ablaze with exciting programs and initiatives, some of which include:

- The College of Agriculture, Urban Sustainability and Environmental Sciences (CAUSES) to prepare students for careers in green industries and research
- A rigorous honors program providing the University's top scholars with accelerated course offerings and opportunities for civic engagement and experiential learning
- The Community College's state-of-the-art facility with one-stop student services, classroom and lab space, convenient satellite locations and specialized Workforce Development and Lifelong Learning (WDLL) sites across the District:
ccdc.usdc.edu/locations
- Residential housing, a greener, renovated plaza and upgraded labs to enhance the quality of campus life for students and city residents

Small class sizes and a dedicated, accomplished faculty provide the support students need to reach their goals.

A Cosmopolitan Campus

We have international students from 93 countries, making UDC one of the most diverse institutions in the nation. We encourage cross-cultural understanding on campus as well as in study-abroad and international exchange programs. For those new to our shores, an international admissions advisor is here to help you navigate the admissions process, immigration issues and student life.

Location, Location, Location

You are never more than a few minutes away from the city's great attractions—from the White House and the nation's iconic monuments to museums, cultural venues and sports. A city of neighborhoods, each with its own history and traditions, there is always something to do, to see, to explore in Washington, DC.

Student Life

Beyond the classroom is a world of other activities developed to enhance your college experience: academic honors societies, community service, Greek life, internships, music and performing arts performances, student government associations, university newspaper and homecoming.

Go, Firebirds!

UDC is an NCAA Division II member institution. Firebird student athletes compete in men's and women's basketball, men's and women's cross country, women's indoor and outdoor track and field, men's soccer, women's volleyball, and men's and women's tennis. Our tennis teams compete as affiliate members of the East Coast Conference; all other programs are independent. Follow the Firebirds at udcfirebirds.com!

Increase Your Potential

At every level—from associate to master’s—our degree programs are designed to put you on the path to academic and professional success. Long-standing undergraduate and graduate courses of study have been joined by timely, new offerings, including two professional masters’ degrees.

Higher Education Within Reach

We are a public university, committed to keeping our tuition affordable. For information about tuition, fees, scholarships and financing options, go to udc.edu/fa. You can complete your FAFSA online at FAFSA.ed.gov (school code: 007015). We also encourage returning veterans to take advantage of the new Post 9-11 GI Bill and Yellow Ribbon programs to fund their education: udc.edu/military.
