Living and personal expenses may vary. The University of the District of Columbia does not require that tuition and fees be paid prior to registration; however you may make arrangements to pre-pay your fees via the Office of Student Accounts. All rates are based on a nine-month academic calendar and are subject to change.

Health Insurance: All students must maintain a health insurance policy approved by the University of the District of Columbia.

Dependents: Students accompanied by a dependent must account for an additional $3,000 of support for the first dependent, and approximately $2,500 for each additional dependent. Estimates do not include summer tuition.

Financial Affidavit Instructions

Please provide on the opposite page the names, addresses and relationship of each/all individuals funding your education. Academic decisions regarding University admission are determined without regard to financial support, however you will not be eligible to obtain a proper visa without adequate proof of financial support. The University of the District of Columbia will issue an I-20 only after this form is complete. Remember to keep additional copies of all financial documentation as the U.S. consulate may also require proof of financial solvency.

It is the applicant's responsibility to demonstrate sufficient funding to meet all tuition and living expenses. For immigration and sponsorship purposes, the estimated length of study is four years for a Bachelors degree and two years for the Associate and Master's degrees.

Sponsored Students

In addition to showing your intent, your sponsor must provide proof of support via the notarized Affidavit of Support for your first year of study. Regardless of living arrangements, you or your sponsor must certify the Living & Personal section of the Affidavit.

Government Sponsored Students

Submit an original letter of support, stating the exact terms and length of the scholarship, This letter must include any restrictions, such as program or duration of study provisions. The financial affidavit is not required.

Assistantships

The original offer letter from the awarding graduate department must be submitted to Admissions. It is the recipient's responsibility to insure that proper notification is received.
