In the Path of Conflict*, a UDC-ICRC film series, to air on UDC-TV Channel 98 (Comcast Cable)/Channel 19 (RCN Cable)

Washington, D.C. – The University of the District of Columbia (UDC) and the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) are proud to present In the Path of Conflict, a film series airing on UDC Cable Television starting March 13. UDC Cable Television broadcasts in the District of Columbia on Channel 98 on Comcast Cable and Channel 19 on RCN Cable.

In some ten ICRC-produced films, which address the devastating impact that armed conflicts have on civilians, particularly women and children, those affected by war in the Congo, Rwanda, Cambodia, Sri Lanka, and Afghanistan tell their stories, in their own voices.

The ICRC-produced films form the first three programs in the weekly series In the Path of Conflict which is made up of nine programs from across the world that look at the impact of conflict on people's lives. The films air on UDC Cable Television on Channel 98 (Comcast Cable) or Channel 19 (RCN Cable) at 9:00 p.m. the weeks of March 13, 20 and 27 on Mondays, with repeats on Wednesdays and Fridays at the same times.

UDC Cable Television is the District Government's non-commercial, adult education program service. The mission of UDC Cable Television is the innovative use of cable television technology and programming, to support the University in carrying out its land-grant function of teaching, research and public service. The business of UDC Cable Television is the acquisition, development, production, distribution, and marketing of educational and instructional video programming. Also, UDC Cable Television operates a 24-hour educational cable program service. And finally, UDC Cable Television has a business model which includes the operation of an audio and video recording service center, electronic field and studio production, and a video training center for television production.

The University of the District of Columbia is the fully-accredited sole public source for accessible, inclusive, affordable, and comprehensive public higher education in the District of Columbia and provides additional life-long learning opportunities. The University delivers quality instruction and uses student-centered approaches to empower and benefit both individuals and its local communities. The University, an urban land grant institution, is a very diverse community, a gateway to the world, and a significant investment engine for the District of Columbia. The University is located at 4200 Connecticut Ave, NW Washington, and is conveniently located at the Van Ness/UDC stop on the Red Line of Metro. For more information on other University activities, contact Mike Andrews, Senior Director for Communications and University Spokesperson at (202) 274-5685 or visit the University's web site at www.udc.edu.
