THE OFFICE OF INSTITUTIONAL RESEARCH, ASSESSMENT AND PLANNING

The staff of the Office of Institutional Research, Assessment and Planning is pleased to present the University of the District of Columbia 2006-2007 Fact Book. The Fact Book is issued periodically to provide frequently requested statistical, programmatic, and operational data about the University of the District of Columbia and serves as a reference resource tool for the University community. Information presented in the Fact Book is divided into sections, as indicated in the Table of Contents, and is presented in tabular and/or graphic form. Citations of the data sources used for this resource are also indicated. Suggestions or corrections are welcome and should be directed to the Office of Institutional Research, Assessment and Planning.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Office of Institutional Research, Assessment and Planning would like to dedicate this Fact Book to Diane Dickerson-Hayes, longtime Operations Research Analyst and University Statistician for her unyielding commitment and dedication to the success of this office. Mrs. Dickerson-Hayes has dedicated more than 32 years of her professional academic career to serving the University community and the students we serve. This Fact Book is a testament to her hard work and for that we offer her our deepest gratitude.

FROM THE DIRECTOR

This Second Edition of the University of the District of Columbia Fact Book is a publication of the Office of Institutional Research, Assessment and Planning. This document provides factual, statistical information about UDC, and provides administrators, faculty, staff and other university constituents with better access to operational data.

In our ongoing effort to provide useful institutional data, we aim to publish sequential editions of the fact book each year. We welcome your valuable comments and suggestions to improve the content of published facts about UDC. This second edition of the UDC fact book will be published on the University's website at: (<http://www.udc.edu/irap>).

We hope that those of you who are less familiar with our University will find this publication to be informative and useful. We invite you to visit our campus at 4200 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20008 to learn more about our academic offerings as well as, to meet our outstanding student body, faculty, administrators and support staff.

Respectively,

David Caruth

MISSION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The University of the District of Columbia is an urban land-grant institution of higher education with an open admission policy. Is a comprehensive public institution offering quality, affordable postsecondary education to the District of Columbia residents at the certificate, associate's baccalaureate, and graduate levels. These programs will prepare students for immediate entry into the workforce, for the next level of education, for specialized employment opportunities, and for lifelong learning.

UNIVERSITY GOALS

1. Student Access: To ensure the legislative entitlement of the residents of the District of Columbia to comprehensive public post-secondary education;
2. Student Choice: To offer a broad variety of programs within its available resources to provide reasonable choices for post-secondary education to the residents of the District of Columbia that will lead to meaningful employment opportunities;
3. Student Achievement: To set high standards for student achievement and to provide quality instruction and support services to enable students to meet those standards;
4. Land-Grant Functions: To be innovative in carrying out the traditional land-grant functions of teaching, research, and public service to solve urban community problems and to improve the overall quality of urban living in the District of Columbia;
5. Institutional Quality: To ensure institutional excellence in management and leadership, academic programs, support services, instruction, research and public service.
6. Institutional Growth and Development: To be responsive to new and emerging job market demands in the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Area, and
7. Advancement of Knowledge: To advance knowledge at the local, national, and international levels through various innovative strategies in teaching, research, and public service as America's only public urban land-grant institutions.

ACCREDITATION

The University of the District of Columbia is accredited by the Commission on Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools, 3624 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104, (215) 662-5606. The Commission on Higher Education is an institutional accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Secretary of Education and the Commission on Recognition of Postsecondary Accreditation. In 2005, the University received a 10-year unconditional reaffirmation of its accreditation from the Commission on Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools.

MISSION OF THE OFFICE OF INSTITUTIONAL RESEARCH, ASSESSMENT AND PLANNING

The mission of the Office of Institutional Research, Assessment and Planning is to enhance institutional effectiveness by providing information that supports academic and university planning and strengthens assessment and decision making processes for the administration of the University of the District of Columbia. An integral part of our mission is to support internal and external requests for information and research regarding the University including demographic and education related matters.

Goals and Objectives

- To support informed decision making throughout the University, independently and in collaboration with other campus constituencies charged with the responsibility for data collection, analysis, and presentation of institutional data.
- To coordinate institutional data collection efforts that support internal and external reporting as well as compliance with governing agencies and accreditation bodies.
- To provide access to, and to coordinate the release of selected, reliable university-wide data.
- To assist with assessment and program evaluation efforts through the provision of resources and data.
- Provide significant support and coordination for University planning efforts by collecting, analyzing and summarizing data from operational activities.
- Produce facts about the University and engage in special studies when needed.
