WHEREAS, The French program is presently being offered in the Department of Languages and Communication Disorders (which will become the new Department of English, World Languages, and Cultures, effective January 1, 2012) of the College of Arts & Sciences (CAS) of the University of the District of Columbia; and

WHEREAS, The French program, in a letter dated April 21, 2011, from the CAS College Curriculum Committee (CCC) to the UDC Faculty Senate, was recommended for termination as a degree and that it rather be offered as a minor, based on the CCC’s “Academic Program Review Results and Recommendations”; and

WHEREAS, The Chair of Department, in a memo to the CAS College Curriculum Committee dated April 11, 2011, supported the termination of the French program and concurred that it would be offered as a minor/concentration to students; and

WHEREAS, while no new or current students will be permitted to declare French as a major, reasonable provision will be made to advise and support those students currently in the program through to their graduation in an expedited manner; and

WHEREAS, the University desires to terminate the French program effective January 3, 2012, with the exception of teach-out students as provided in the previous clause; and

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Bachelor of Arts in French will terminate as a degree-granting program and cease to be offered at UDC as a major, with the full termination occurring upon completion of the teach-out described herein.
