Job Opportunities
University of the District of Columbia (UDC)

Position: Associate Professor

Salary Range: Rank and Salary Commensurate with Qualifications

Location: Van Ness Campus

Areas of Consideration: Nationwide

Responsible to Chairperson, Department of Education
College of Arts and Sciences

Brief Description of Duties

Teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in special education, and in the professional licensure programs for teachers; supervises students in field-based practica; conducts and publishes scholarly research; advises undergraduate and graduate students; guides graduate students in their master’s thesis research; develops grant applications and proposals for the external support of research and teacher preparation in special education; and provides services to the department, college, university and community.

Qualifications Required

Ph.D in special education. Demonstrated ability to successful teaching experience in special education; training and expertise in the provision of research based, best practices of special education service provisions appropriate for exceptional children and youth with high incidence disabilities (learning disabilities, emotional disturbance, mental retardation) at the elementary and secondary school-age level; indications or evidence of the ability to convey and instruct undergraduate and graduate pre- and in- service special education teachers in the provision of research-based best practices for the education and related service needs of exceptional children and youth. Demonstrated potential to conduct and publish scholarly research. Ability to work with diverse populations; and a commitment to excellence in teaching.

All candidates will be considered without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, martial status, personal appearance, sexual orientation, familial status, family responsibilities, matriculation, political affiliation, disability, source of income, place of residence or business.

University of the District of Columbia is an equal opportunity employer
The Residency Preference Amendment Act of 1988, D.C. Law 7-203, created a system which provides that any applicant for employment in the Career or Educational Services who is a bona fide resident of the District of Columbia may claim a residency preference at the time of application. An applicant selected for appointment based on District residency will be required to submit proof of bona fide District residency. Bona fide District residency must be maintained from the date of appointment to the position for five consecutive years.

This position is in the collective bargaining unit.

Please submit a curriculum vitae, official transcript, three letters of recommendation to:

Ms. Isabelle McMillian
University to the District of Columbia
Office of Human Resources
Building 38, Suite 301-12
4200 Connecticut Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20008