Chairman Vincent C. Gray
at the request of the Mayor

A BILL

IN THE COUNCIL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Chairman Vincent C. Gray, at the request of the Mayor, introduced the following bill, which was referred to the Committee on ______________________________.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, That this act may be cited as the “The University of the District of Columbia Self-Governance Amendment Act of 2008”.

Sec. 2.

Findings

The University of the District of Columbia (the “University”) was established as an urban land-grant university to provide quality post-secondary education to District residents and others, and to provide workers trained to meet the needs of employers in the District;

The University has made progress towards these goals since its inception, but more slowly than was anticipated and is needed;

The Board of Trustees and the incoming President recognize the challenge of making the University into a first-class institution that will achieve its goals and they are prepared to make significant changes to achieve those goals;

The University requires substantial additional funding, both short term and long term, to achieve its goals, but it is unrealistic to expect that the District Government can be a source of funding much beyond its current annual payment; Additional sources of funding for the University may include the Federal Government, local and national businesses, foundations, and individuals from the greater Washington DC area; Those additional funding sources are not likely to be forthcoming unless major changes are made in the governance of the University, in particular in the ability of the University to control its funds and operations, independently from the District, as do most other public universities in the United States and as do some entities within the District, such as the Convention Center Authority, the District Public Library, and the Water and Sewer Authority; and in order to exercise the powers of self-governance granted in this Act in a responsible manner, and In order to attract the outside funding necessary to accomplish the University’s goals, it is essential that the University’s Board of Trustees be comprised of highly qualified and highly motivated individuals with a wide range of special expertise, including higher education policy, finance and accounting, property management, procurement, law, the operations of the District Government, community relations, and personnel practices, among others.

Purpose

It is the purpose of this Act to transform the University from an agency of the District of Columbia, operating under the authority of the Mayor and the Council, to an independent agency within the District Government, with the full authority to carry out the functions set forth in this Act, outside the control of the Mayor and the Council; provided that nothing herein shall be construed to relieve the University from compliance with laws of general applicability of the District.
